Misquoting Justin Parrott, aka Abu Amina Elias

May 1, 2023 · Slander & False Claims · Not retracted · Targeted: Justin Parrott

As we have seen in his discussion of jihad, Justin Parrot goes to great lengths to push his humanist, pacifist understanding of Islam, even stooping to the level of distorting and mistranslating Islamic texts to serve his deviant conclusions. In one article titled, "The Guiding Principles of Faith," this distortion of Islamic belief is very explicit. He says

> "Goodwill embodies the ethics of reciprocity and equal treatment, setting a precedent for political reconciliation among the nations of the world; on this basis, we can pursue an understanding of human rights and dignity across religions and cultures. But most importantly, these virtues are obligations that we must fulfill—inwardly and outwardly—if we are to be granted salvation and admittance into Paradise."[236]

What does it mean to "inwardly fulfill" human rights and dignity across all religions and cultures? Is there "dignity" to be found in jahiliyy cultures and kufr religions? And where in Islam do we find this "obligation" of "inward fulfillment of human rights" as a prerequisite for salvation and admittance into Janna? Is there any ayah or hadith that says a believer, who believed in Allah and His Messenger, prayed, fasted, paid zakat, made hajj, made tawba for his sins and otherwise comes to Allah with a sound heart, will nonetheless not be admitted into Paradise because he did not uphold "human rights" and the dignity of all cultures? Is Parrot making up his own religion?

Sincerity, honesty, and goodwill are essential virtues in Islamic

Summary

Background. This is a clear-cut example of Haqiqatjou's purposeful lies. He cherry-picks from what Parrott had written in order to paint a picture that he wants to portray, which is full of lies.

Haram Action. As Amina Abu Elias states, "Daniel Haqiqatjou is regularly dishonest in his 'criticism' of other Muslims. Below he deleted the first half of my paragraph to make it say something else, then he accused me of "making up my own religion." The irony is the entire article is about the importance of honesty. Daniel has tarnished the reputations of numerous Muslims whose only crime was disagreeing with him. Such behavior disqualifies his opinions about Islam. If he will not quote fellow Muslims accurately, why should he be trusted to quote Allah and His…

Evidence of Haram. The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said, "Shall I not inform you of one of the gravest of the cardinal sins?" We said: "Yes, O Messenger of Allah!" He (ﷺ) said, "To join others as partners with Allah in worship and to be undutiful to one's parents." The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) sat up from his reclining position (in order to stress the importance of what he was going to say) and added, "I warn you making a false statement and giving a false testimony. I warn you against making a false statement and giving false testimony." The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) kept on…
