وَٱلَّذِينَ يُؤْذُونَ ٱلْمُؤْمِنِينَ وَٱلْمُؤْمِنَٰتِ بِغَيْرِ مَا ٱكْتَسَبُوا۟ فَقَدِ ٱحْتَمَلُوا۟ بُهْتَٰنًا وَإِثْمًا مُّبِينًا ﴿٥٨﴾

And those who harm believing men and believing women for [something] other than what they have earned have certainly born upon themselves a slander and manifest sin.

Background. On 10 November 2026, Adnan Rashid replied to Haqiqatjou with a mocking post captioned “Before the IRGC funds hit your account vs. After the “mut’a” contract”, suggesting that Haqiqatjou is paid by Iran. About an hour later, Haqiqatjou answered: “On your frequent trips to Dubai, how many times have you picked up street women to “marry” while secretly intending to divorce after one night? That’s the kind of marriage tourism your shaykh Bin baz allows, so just wondering. Just a tip: make sure to get HIV tested, Rajeet.”

Haram Action. Haqiqatjou publicly accuses a named Muslim of repeatedly picking up “street women” in Dubai for one-night sham marriages. He gives no evidence at all. Putting it as a question does not soften it: the accusation is clear, and it is about a person’s sexual conduct. This is slander (buhtan). He then adds an HIV taunt and calls him “Rajeet”, a nickname used online to mock people of South Asian background. That is mockery (sukhriyah) and the use of an offensive nickname.

Evidence of Haram. Allah warns that those who harm believing men and women for something they have not done carry the burden of slander and a clear sin (Qur’an 33:58). Accusing a Muslim of sexual immorality without proof is among the gravest forms of this. Allah also forbids ridiculing others and calling them by offensive nicknames (Qur’an 49:11). Adnan Rashid’s jibe does not change this. Being provoked does not permit answering with an unproven sexual accusation, and a disagreement over a…
